ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This is an attempt to record some of the history of the Vardaman Family. I am indebted to many people for their help in locating records and other information.

Some of the material was prepared by Vernon and Douglas Laughter of Houston, Texas and may be found in a book The Laughter Genealogy by Douglas Laughter.

One other source is The White Chief James Kimble Vardaman by William F. Holmes. Another source of material is A History of Baptists in Missouri by F.S. Duncan.

Many realitives have loaned me charts, shared family records and graciously listened to my many questions and my repeated requests in collecting these materials. The following people have supplied a great amount of information and encouragement:

Mr. Kieth Vardaman of Ossian, Indiana

Mr. Robert Vardaman of New Paris, Indiana

Mrs. Helen Stouder of Huntington, Indiana

Mr. Kenneth Petro of Muncie, Indiana

Mr. William Partee of Hannibal, Missouri

Mrs. Clyde Flesher of Howe, Texas The Romance of Jeremiah Vardaman and Polly Coffee by Peter Riffie

Mr. Howard Smith of Fort Wayne, Indiana The Smith and Allied Families by Howard Smith

Mrs. Thelma Vardeman of Lindale, Texas

Without a doubt one will find errors in these materials in dates, spelling, and locations. I used the materials as they were given to me. I would encourage you to make corrections and additions where possible and if you have any questions I may be contacted at the address below.

I am forever indebted to my wife, Lucile, for her patience, understanding, and help in preparing and typing this material.

JOHN VARDAMAN, SR.

John Vardaman, Sr. was born in Sweden and married a woman from Wales. He came to America ca 1725 when John, Jr. was about seven years old and landed in South Carolina.²

They were members of the Lutheran Church but joined the Episcopal Church. John, Sr. is said to have lived to an advanced age.

John, Jr. married Elizabeth Morgan, probably a daughter of Thomas and Ester Morgan.⁶ They came to Bedford County, Virginia where most of their children were born. In Bedford County, Virginia they joined the Baptist Church.

John, Jr. was a member of the Bedford County, Virginia Militia in 1758.¹¹ He rendered Revolutionary War service in 1780.

About 1767 they moved west in Virginia to New River in what is now Wythe County. Later they moved to Clinch River, Virginia.

In 1774 Daniel Boone and others organized a group of men in Virginia and Tennessee to open a trail to Kentucky. They left Holton River, Virginia in the spring of 1775 cutting the Transylvania Trail to Otter Creek, Kentucky.³

In Boonesboro, Kentucky there is a "Transylvania Monument" dedicated October 12, 1935 to honor the men who opened the Trail. A John Vardaman is listed on tablet number II.

In 1779 John Vardaman, Jr. and his family moved to Kentucky and settled near Crab Orchard, Kentucky. They were probably members of The Old Gilberts Creek Baptist Church. Later they belonged to Crab Orchard Baptist Church.²

John Vardaman, Jr. was a land owner on Cedar Creek, Lincoln Co., Kentucky. There is a deed that shows that William Menefee, husband of Elizabeth Vardaman, conveyed 200 acres of land on Cedar Creek, Lincoln County, Kentucky to John Vardaman, Jr. on 12 Sept 1789.⁴

John Vardaman, Jr. was a member of Captain Boyles Company at Dick River, Kentucky in 1780. (See D.A.R. records of Mrs. Lida Lawson Scott Oxford, Mississippi #26133.)

In 1812 he found Kentucky was too crowded and moved to Missouri where he died in 1834. He is buried at Captain John Sappingtons about fifteen miles west of Saint Louis, Missouri.

THE MORGANS

John Vardaman, Jr. married Elizabeth Morgan.

Morgan is a Welch name literally meaning "Born of the Sea". The name Morgan played an important part in the legends of the "The Knights of the Round Table" and "King Arthur's Court".⁵

Morgan Mwkyndfar, a member of King Arthur's Court, was the owner of "The Magic Car".

William Morgan translated the Bible into the Welch language. King Morgan founded Glamorgan as well as the family of Morgan. He also headed a line of Welch Kings.

In Bedford County, Virginia records there is a Will of Thomas Morgan dated 1 April 1774 listing Elizabeth Vardaman, daughter, to receive one shilling and three pence sterling, also wife Ester.⁶

John Vardaman, Jr. and his sons took part in the French and Indian Wars. Sons William, John III, Amaziah and Morgan all served. William was in the Battle of Point Pleasant 1774. John III and Amaziah were soldiers in the campaign of General George Rogers Clark in the autumn of 1782, also were involved in the campaign at Vincennes, Indiana. Amaziah and Morgan were on scouting parties under Col. William Whitley in 1794.

JOHN VARDAMAN III

John Vardaman III, son of John Vardaman, Jr. and Elizabeth Morgan, born in Virginia 1753 or 1761 came with his parents to Kentucky, near Crab Orchard, about 1779. He and his brothers served with George Rogers Clark in his campaign against the Shawnees at Vincennes, Indiana. He settled in Green County, Kentucky and received a land grant of 200 Acres.⁸ In 1798 Green County was divided and Pulaski

County was formed. His farm was in Eastern Pulaski County. On 7 Sept 1785 he married Mary Spaulding. They had seven children. They were members of the Flat Lick Baptist Church.

He died in 1809 or early in 1810. On 14 Feb 1812 the heirs sold the farm to John James, and an auction was held on 24 Feb 1812 to dispose of his personal property. A copy of the clerks record of the sale lists household goods, farm tools, farm animals, copper stills, and slaves.

In 1812 the family moved to Fayette County, Indiana south of Crawfordsville in Columbia Township along the west fork of the Whitewater River. The Whitewater Canel was built near their property.

WILLIAM VARDAMAN

William Vardaman, son of John Vardaman III and Mary Spaulding, born 28 July 1790 married Mary (Polly) Reed the 3 Aug 1808 in Pulaski County, Kentucky.

They had two sons, Morgan T. and John T. Vardaman.

William Vardaman was Co-Administrator of the estate of John Vardaman III in Kentucky. He also was administrator of his brothers estates, Peter and John T. Vardaman, in Fayette County, Indiana.

On 12 Mar 1812 they arrived in what is now Fayette County, Indiana.

William Vardaman moved with his son John T. to Wayne County, Indiana where he died.

In 1829 a Vardaman grist mill was in operation on the west fork of the Whitewater River, two miles north of Bear Creek.

MORGAN T. VARDAMAN

Morgan T. Vardaman, son of William Vardaman and Mary (Polly) Reed, was born Oct 1809 in Pulaski County, Kentucky. He married Lucinda Walker 12 Aug 1830 in Fayette County, Indiana.

According to family legend she may have been of Indian descent. This has not been proven. She was born in Tennessee in 1812 and the Cherokee Indians were in Tennessee at that time and many had the surname of Walker.

On 30 Jan 1820 Morgan Vardaman bought a lot in Connersville, Indiana, Lot No 81 on Madison Street for $130.00. It is believed he operated a shoe shop there.

A Morgan T. Vardaman had a shoe shop in Berlin, Fayette County, Indiana. Berlin was half way between Nulltown and Alpine along the west side of the Whitewater Canel.

After 1850's the family moved to Wells County, Indiana. The 1850 Census in Fayette County shows Morgan's occupation as a farmer.

He died 30 June 1873 and is buried in the Uniontown Cemetery one mile east of Zanesville, Indiana and one half mile south. The grave marker lists Rev. Morgan T. Vardaman.

JEREMIAH VARDAMAN

Jeremiah Vardaman, youngest son of John Vardaman, Jr., born Wythe County, Virginia, 8 July 1775 came with his parents to Lincoln County, Kentucky in 1779.⁹

About 1792 he united with the Crab Orchard Baptist Church and soon became interested in preaching. About this time some of his friends persuaded him there was no harm in music and dancing. Col. William Whitley had a dancing school in his home and Jeremiah became a scholar, learning to play the fiddle for the dances. The elders in the church frowned on such activity and excluded him from the church.

He became enamored with Elizabeth James, daughter of Richard James¹⁰ and they became engaged. Her parents opposed the match so on 12 Aug 1799 they eloped. Her parents soon forgave the couple and moved to Pulaski County with Jeremiah and Elizabeth. While in Pulaski County he met Thomas Hansford a preacher. Jeremiah heard him and after much prayer and study, repented. He spent several days in the woods and finally he vowed to the Lord he would foresake all vain and worldly things and preach the gospel.

After several prayer meetings in neighbors homes with Jeremiah preaching the news reached Crab Orchard and he was invited to return. The church soon restored him to membership.

He was ordained in 1801. He preached at four different churches and went on tour to other cities.

In 1810 he was called to David's Fork Baptist Church. He became a very successful evangelist.

In 1830 he left Kentucky and moved to Ralls County, Missouri where he died 8 May 1842.

Jeremiah founded the Jeremiah Vardaman School of Theology in Liberty, Missouri which is now a part of the William Jewel College.

It has been said that his wife, Elizabeth James, was a great aunt of Jessie James but this has not been proven.

Jeremiah and Elizabeth had ten children before she died prior to 1820. He then married Elizabeth Bryan, daughter of Daniel Boone Bryan and Elizabeth Turner, and they had five children. Later he married Lucy Redd Bullock.

MORGAN VARDAMAN

Morgan Vardaman, son of John and Elizabeth Morgan Vardaman, Jr., was born 16 Dec 1767 (1766 Bible Records) possibly in Russell County, Virginia. Morgan married Mary (Polly) Trousdale on 24 Jan 1792. Mary died 1 Oct 1844.

On 6 Nov 1848 in the Court House of Stanford, Lincoln County, Kentucky a recording was made of the sale of Morgan Vardaman's personal property and land amounting to $5,203.87. It included many household items, tools, copper still, stilling equipment, horses, mules, cattle, hogs, sheep, farm equipment, grain, slaves (referred to as negro boys and girls) and numerous other items.

Jeremiah Vardaman, son of Morgan Vardaman and Mary (Polly) Trousdale, married Polly Coffee.

Peter Riffe, a cousin of Polly Coffee, has written a story, The Romance and Marriage of Jeremiah Vardaman and Polly Coffee. He was also a close neighbor and well acquainted with the bride and groom.

A copy of this story and a list of descendants of the Vardamans, Portmans, Coffees and Riffes, is in the Public Library in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

JAMES KIMBLE VARDAMAN

The White Chief

James Kimble Vardaman

by

William F. Holmes

James Kimble Vardaman was born 26 July 1861 near Morales, Jackson County, Texas. He is the son of William Sylvester Vardaman and Mary Ann Fox. He moved to Mississippi with his parents in 1868 and on 31 May 1883 he married Mrs. Annie E. Burlerson Robinson.¹³

In 1882 he passed state bar examination and entered the practice of law. He became interested in politics and moved to Winona, Mississippi. There he was editor, with his cousin, William Money, of the Winona Advance. He became an advocate of White Supremacy. They moved to Greenwood, Mississippi and was editor of several newspapers.

He was elected to the state senate in 1890 and was Speaker of the House of Representatives.

James K. Vardaman was elected governor of the state of Mississippi in 1902. He was involved in many political disputes during his life.

THE WHITLEY HOUSE

William Whitley was born in Augusta County, Virginia on 14 Aug 1749 and married Ester Fuller about 1771. In 1775 he journeyed to Kentucky to select a homesite, then moved his family that fall. They settled on Cedar Creek about two miles west of Crab Orchard.¹²

William Whitley fought the Indians several times while building his home. He recieved grants for land amounting to 1800 acres. By 1794 he had built the brick house which stands today just off US 150 two miles west of Crab Orchard, Kentucky. They had eleven children.

One of the first race tracks in Kentucky was laid out near the house in 1788 and was in use until 1813. People from Stanford and Crab Orchard, Kentucky attended the races there along with many famous people.

WILLIAM WHITLEY AND THE VARDAMANS

Amaziah and Morgan Vardaman were on several scouting parties with William Whitley in 1794.

Ephriam Pennington and his wife Elizabeth Vardaman, daughter of Morgan Vardaman and Mary Trousdale, bought the Whitley House in 1827. Pennington willed the property to his children in 1861. On 2 May 1919 they deeded it to Ollie M. Crutcher. It is now owned by the state of Kentucky and is a State Shrine.

Col. Whitley permitted a dancing school on the third floor of his home. Jeremiah Vardaman was one of the scholars there and learned to play the fiddle.

REV. J.T. VARDEMAN

Rev. J.T. Vardeman, Nettle Creek, was born in Fayette County, Indiana in 1815; has had three wives---Martha Jenkins, Rebecca Jenkins, and Sarah Boling---and has had eighteen children. He is a farmer, and a preacher in the United Brethren Church. He joined the church fifty-one years, and has been a member of the United Brethren forty-two years, and a minister among them for thirty-eight years. He is now Presiding Elder (1880). He was once a Representative in the Legislature. Mr. Vardeman came to Randolph County in 1860. He is active and prominent in his denomination and in the community, residing northeast of Losantville.¹⁵

HISTORY OF FAYETTE COUNTY, INDIANA

BERLIN

Berlin was one of the villages which came into existence as the result of the building of the Whitewater Canal. It was laid out by Dr. Philip Mason, who was also the proprietor, and recorded October 29. 1838. It was a pretentious village--on paper--of seventy-three lots and was located about half way between Nulltown and Alpine (section 23, township 13, range 12), on the west side of the canal. It may be better defined to the present generation as being located at the crossing of the second road south of Nulltown and the river road. There was never much of a village at this point. The best evidence on the village gives it a shoe shop owned by Morgan T. VARDIMAN, a store belonging to S. Brown, a physician named John Turner and a few dwelling houses. As a trading center it could not compete with Nulltown to the north and Alpine to the south, and within a few years it ceased to have anything which might give it the right to be called a village. Apparently it was born only to die and can hardly be called a town at any stage of its brief career.

The following is a copy of an an article appearing in Fords Christian Repository of August 1854 by J. M. Pick, found in Missouri Baptist Historical Society at Liberty, Missouri.

The father of Jeremiah Vardeman was too far advanced in life to go on campaigns, as he had done at an earlier period, but he could stand guard at the fort and hunt game in the woods. His four eldest sons, William, John, Amaziah, and Morgan, were frequently engaged in defending the country from Indian assaults. William was in the memorable battle at Point Pleasant, on October 10th, 1774. He was the first of the family to settle in Kentucky, and at an early period he emigrated to the Natchez country. John and Amiziah were soldiers in the campaign of Gen. G. R. Clark against the Shawanees in the autumn of 1782--a campaign to chastize the savages for their barbarities the preceding August at Bryan's Station and the Blue Licks. Amaziah and Morgan were frequently on scouting parties under the famous Col. William Whittley, and were with him in his campaign to the Nick-o-jack, in September, 1794.

The father eventually removed to Missouri, and died there about 1827, at the extreme age of 109 years.

Jeremiah, the youngest son, was old enough to, and actually did, take part in the Indian wars before their close by Wayne's victory in 1794, and served repeatedly as a scout. Reared from early childhood, in the wilderness of Kentucky, and during troublesome times, his opportunities for education were limited indeed. And the very little he obtained was more from the family circle and his own natural desire to obtain knowledge than from school exercises. The only acquisitions he made were in reading, writing, and the common principles of arithmetic. When he attained to manhood, and especially after he professed religion, he read just enough for profitable cogitation. He acquired the habit of deep and intense thought and reflection, while riding, walking, or even while laboring on the farm. His pious parents taught their children the lessons of Jesus Christ, and daily offered up prayers for their salvation.
